PRIVACY STATEMENT

Gamco is concerned with the privacy considerations of the visitors to and users of its web site, and here wishes to describe its policy and practices with regard to the same.

Gamco's web server automatically recognizes only each visitor's domain name, but not the visitor's individual e-mail address. Gamco collects the individual e-mail address of each visitor to its web site only when the visitor voluntarily provides the same, as when a visitor participates in survey information, and/or elects to identify its site/register itself with Gamco. Whether a visitor is identified only by its domain name, or is specifically identified by its individual e-mail address, Gamco in each instance collects information as to which pages on its web site (or which are made available through links provided on its web site) are accessed or visited, and also collects any information which is voluntarily provided by a visitor to Gamco.

Gamco uses "cookies" on this site. A cookie is a piece of data stored on a site visitor's hard drive to help us improve your access to our site and identify repeat visitors to our site. For instance, when we use a cookie to identify you, you would not have to log in a password more than once, thereby saving time while on our site. Cookies can also enable us to track and target the interests of our users to enhance the experience on our site. Usage of a cookie is in no way linked to any personally identifiable information on our site.

The information which Gamco collects (or "aggregates") is used by Gamco (i) to improve the content and/or layout of Gamco's web site pages for each individual visitor, (ii) to notify visitors who have identified themselves to and/or registered with Gamco as to future updates to [Website]'s web site, and (iii) to contact visitors to Gamco's web site for Gamco's marketing services. The information collected by Gamco for these purposes is not shared by Gamco with any other organizations for direct marketing purposes.

While Gamco chooses its links to other web sites carefully, it does so solely as a matter of convenience to its visitors and/or customers, and Gamco cannot take any responsibility for the content of any such linked web sites, or for the privacy policies of any such linked web sites. (In this regard, we refer you to Gamco's "Legal Statement" notice, which is set forth below and which we request that you read.)

You may opt out of any future contacts from us at any time. You can do the following at any time by contacting us via the email address or phone number given on our website:

- See what data we have about you, if any.
- Change/correct any data we have about you.
- Have us delete any data we have about you.
- Express any concern you have about our use of your data.

In addition to the foregoing, Gamco draws to your attention the fact that so-called "identity theft" (either through information illegally obtained by direct and unauthorized entry (so-called "hacking") into an information technology ("IT") system, or indirectly obtained by secondary methods) is one of the fastest-growing crime problems in California and in the United States. Gamco has carefully implemented IT system security measures, consistent with those followed in its industry, to assist in safeguarding against this problem. Gamco cannot, however, take any responsibility for any such unauthorized entry into its IT system, or for any such unauthorized and indirect obtaining of information by secondary methods.

In this regard, and solely as a convenience to you, we direct you to the fact that, in the event of any so-called "identity theft," remedies may be available to you under certain bodies of law, including, without limitation, the following: (i) the Federal Computer Fraud and Abuse Act (18 U.S.C. Section 1030), (ii) the Federal Electronic Communications Privacy Act (18 U.S.C. Section 2701), and (iii) the California Computer Data Access and Fraud Act (Cal. Penal Code Section 502). We urge you, in any such event, to consult with your own legal counsel.

If you feel that we are not abiding by this privacy policy, you should contact us immediately via telephone at 818-982-9600 or via email customerservice@bobrick.com.

Please read our below "Legal Statement" notice.
